THE ULSTER COUNTY TEMPERANCE SOCIETY.

THE CIVIL DAMAGE LAW ENFORCED.

A Temperance Party not Desirable, &c.

A special meeting of the Ulster County Temperance Society was held at the Second M. E. Church, Kingston, on the 29th day of July, 1873.

The President being absent, Rev. A. Ostrander, Vice-President, took the chair. The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. B. F. Wile. A. E. Schepmoes was appointed Secretary pro tem.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, after which the persons present recorded their names.

J. H. Contant stated that E. G. Minard and himself were here by appointment, to represent the Marlboro Meeting of the Society of Friends, and also the town of Plattekill.

Gen. J. S. Smith, Rev. W. H. Mickle and J. H. Contant, were appointed a Business Committee.

Rev. H. C. Earl, Rev. C. VanAntvoord, E. G. Minard, Rev. B. F. Wile and Hon. G. A. Dudley, were appointed a committee to nominate officers.

Rev. V. M. Hallert made some very interesting remarks on the temperance work. Dr. VanAntvoord was called on, but declined to make any remarks for the present.

Rev. A. Ackery and Louis Bevier were also called on to the Business Committee.

The hour of meeting in the afternoon was appointed at 2 o'clock, and for the evening at a quarter past eight. Adjourned.

At the afternoon session the President, Rev. D. Peltz, was present, and took the chair. The session was opened with prayer by Rev. D. Gibson. The minutes of the morning session were read and approved.

The Business and Nominating Committees both asked leave to retire for deliberation.

After consultation the Committee on Nominations reported the following names for officers: President, Gen. J. S. Smith; Vice-President, Hon. G. A. Dudley; Secretary and Treasurer, A. E. Schepmoes. The report was adopted.

Hon. G. A. Dudley then took the chair. As the constitution required two vice-presidents, Rev. D. Peltz moved that Rev. B. F. Wile be elected a vice-president. Adopted.

The Business Committee reported the following resolutions:

Resolved, 1st, That while we gratefully recognize the favor of Almighty God in the progress which the Temperance cause is gradually but surely making, we recognize also, as friends of order, of truth, and of humanity, the solemn duty that devolves upon us to make continued and increased efforts in the use of all legal and proper means to carry forward this good work, until the great end sought in the removal of this giant evil, shall be obtained.

2nd, That while we would not sit in judgment on the motives which led the Governor of our State recently to veto the Local Option Bill, yet we express our strong disapproval of this veto, not only as disappointing the hopes and just expectations of temperance men, but as defeating for a time, a great measure of reform and of public benefit which the great body of upright and tax paying citizens throughout the State demand, and the effect of which, in practical operation, they are most anxious to try.

3rd, That the Civil Damage Law, as passed, is a measure which is calculated to do much good, and we express our hearty approval of it, and we call upon every friend of the Sabbath to join with us in forwarding upon and preventing such shameless desecration.

4th, That we warmly approve the efforts which are making in various parts of the State to awaken the people and enlist them anew in the good work, by means of concerted and organized action, looking to the rigid enforcement of all laws now existing to check and diminish the sale of intoxicating liquors of whatever name, on that sacred day, and we call upon every friend of the Sabbath to join with us in forwarding upon and preventing such shameless desecration.

5th, That we hail with liveliest satisfaction the decided action in behalf of Temperance taken by most of the ecclesiastical bodies of our land. This action, so significant of the Christian sentiment of the individual churches represented by these bodies, forms a strong encouragement to more energetic work in the cause, and is a cheering augury of its ultimate triumph.

6th, That while the formation of a political Temperance party at the present time is not deemed advisable, we hold it to be right and proper that those who receive our notes should be intelligent, capable, honest, and sober men, as none other are fitted to hold public positions of trust and responsibility, or promote by their influence and example the welfare and true interests of society. Votes thus conscientiously cast by all who value order, law and good morals, would soon weed out corruption from high places, and secure a legislation that would make an end of the traffic in poisonous drinks.

7th, That we view with sincere gratification the evidence of increasing interest in the Temperance Reform on the part of our Irish population, as witnessed in so many towns and cities throughout the land, in the formation of organized societies of their own people, and in the energy which marks their efforts to promote personal sobriety, and quench the burning and blighting streams of intemperance.

These resolutions were discussed by a number of the members present and unanimously adopted.

Rev. A. Ostrander offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of the Ulster County Temperance Society be, and are hereby tendered to Rev. Dr. Peltz, the retiring President, for his faithful devotion to its interests during the four years he has held the office.

J. H. Contant offered the following, which was also adopted:

Resolved, That the resolution adopted at the convention held at New Paltz in 1871, in regard to the organization of Temperance Societies in the Sabbath Schools, be urged upon the attention of pastors and superintendents.

Rev. B. F. Wile asked for information as to access to the laws bearing on the liquor traffic. Gen. Smith stated that a summary of such laws is published by the National Publication Society in tract form.

Lack of Thought in Simple Acts of Life.

Herbert Spencer in the Popular Science Monthly.

We have but to observe human action as it meets us at every turn to see that the average intelligence, incapable of guiding conduct even in simple matters where but a moderate reach of reason would suffice, must fail in apprehending with due clearness the natural sanctions of ethical principles.

The unthinking inaptitude with which even the routine of life is carried on by the mass of men shows clearly that they have nothing like the insight required for self-guidance in the absence of an authoritative code of conduct.

Take a day's experience and observe the lack of thought indicated from hour to hour.

You rise in the morning, and, while dressing, take a short contemplative tonic, of which a little has been prescribed for you; but after the first few drops have been counted, succeeding drops run down the sides of the pillow—all because the lip is shaped without regard to the requirement. Yet millions of such phials are annually made by glass-makers and sent out by thousands of druggists; so small being the amount of sense brought to bear on business. Now, turning to the looking-glass, you find that, if not of the best make, it fails to preserve the attitude in which you put it; or, if what is called a "box" looking-glass, you see that the maintenance of its position is insured by an expensive appliance which would have been superfluous had a little reason been used. Were the adjustment such that the centre of gravity of the glass came in the line joining the points of support (which would be quite as easy an adjustment) the glass would remain steady in whatever attitude you gave it. Yet year after year tens of thousands of looking-glasses are made without regard to so simple a need. Presently you go down to breakfast, and taking some Harvey or other sauce with your fish find the bottle has a defect like that which you found in the phial—it is sticky from the drops which trickle down, and occasionally stains the table-cloth. Here are other groups of traders similarly so economical of thought that they do nothing to rectify this inconvenience.

Having breakfasted, you take up the paper, and, before sitting down, wish to put some coal on the fire. But the lump you seize with the tongs slips out of them, and if large, you make several attempts before you succeed in lifting it—all because the ends of the tongs are smooth. Makers and vendors of fire-irons go on, generation after generation, without mending this evil by the simple remedy of giving to the smooth ends some projecting points, or even roughening them by a few burrs with a chisel. Having at length grasped the lump and put it on the fire, you begin to read; but before you have got through the first column, you are reminded by the changes of positions which your sensations prompt, that men still fail to make easy chairs. And yet the guiding principle is simple enough—Just that advantage, secured by using a soft seat in place of a hard one—the advantage, namely, of spreading over a large area the pressure of the weight to be borne, and so making the pressure less intense at any one point—is an advantage to be sought in the form of the chair. Ease is to be gained by making the shapes and relative inclination of seat and back such as will evenly distribute the weight of the trunk and limbs over the widest possible supporting surface, and with the least straining of the parts out of their natural attitudes. And yet only now, after these thousands of years of civilization, are there being reached (and that not rationally but empirically) approximations to the structure required.

Those Puzzling Mail Boxes.

In San Francisco they have some of those perplexing mail boxes which seem all opening yet never open. The Bulletin reports the following incident: "The passenger in a street car were considerably amused this afternoon at the futile efforts of a well-dressed young woman to deposit a letter in the post-office box at the corner of Union and Powell streets. She first tried the lock, then went to one side and looked for a hole, then to the opposite side, then to the front again, with another pull at the lock; then she walked round the lamp post and inspected the back of the box, and finally attempted to take the roof off. After trying every place except the right one she went off, with the letter in her hand, in search of a box that was not locked. A neighboring grocery keeper, who had been observing her antics, from his comfortable seat on a beer barrel, came along just late to get the woman out of her dilemma. Moved probably by a feeling of indignation against the post-office official who locked the box, she quickly walked down the street, and the groceryman quite unnecessarily showed the next lady who happened along the mystery of the thing, laughing heartily all the way back to his seat, and then making the beer barrel shake with his guffaws.

CITY NOTES.

A usual state of serenity again pervading the city. After a storm, a calm!

Sam says he's married. We don't believe it.

Edmonds, the Garden street confectioner, supplied Frank with cigars for his Mary Powell trip.

It was Miss Mary, daughter of Jansen Hasbrouck, who received one of the President's kids.

The Church of the Holy Spirit is about to purchase new library books for its Sunday School.

Tuesday morning the Mary Powell made the run from here to Poughkeepsie in thirty-six minutes!

Yesterday 61 canal boats laden with 7,500 tons of coal reached tide water at Edenville through the Delaware & Hudson canal.

The Second Reformed Church excursion to Iona Island takes place to-day from Rorer & Tremper's dock.

At the base-ball match at Mt. Marlborough the Co-Workers in four innings made four runs, and the Pioneers in three innings made thirteen runs.

Many omissions of personal mention at the time of the President's visit can be readily explained by the general efforts of our citizens to make his sojourn one of agreeable memory. We couldn't well publish a directory of names.

However conflicting the political notions of our voters they displayed their good taste and sense of courtesy by ostracizing such outside subjects the past couple of days—a matter much appreciated by Grant.

The demand for The Freeman this week has been extraordinarily large. On Tuesday 150 extra copies were sold, Wednesday 250, and Thursday 225, and each day the demand was unsatisfied.

The very full and accurate reports of the schoomaker and Cooper case were published in The Freeman were furnished to this paper by S. C. Rogers, one of the best court reporters in the State.

Nothing is better for colic than boiled lobster—we know, for we've been there. It will bring on a case when cucumbers have failed. For a sudden case, crumble the lobster in milk. Eaten at the proper time and in proper quantities lobster stands second to no belly-ache timer known.

Should, as most likely, some of the throng whom Grant took by the hand at his Wednesday night's reception, have deemed his white-knitted hands at all on the order snobbish, such should remember one and thus served—it keeps a hand from an unmerciful amount of sneezing.

The annual picnic for St. Mary's Church will be held in O'Reilly's Grove on Friday, the 15th inst. The usual fun and enjoyment will be augmented this time by such facts as a wheelbarrow race, sack race, foot race and other games that will be quite exciting. The usual good music and refreshments will be there.

Considering that The Freeman has been a little short-handed the past week it has managed to keep up with the procession tolerably well. Its reports of the big counsel-fees case have been full and prompt, and Gen. Grant's movements equally fully reported. On Tuesday night there were five columns of reports, in addition to our regular reading matter, written after ten o'clock at night, and put in type after midnight. As this was mainly in addition to regular work, it may be excelled enterprising without exaggeration.

The Temperance Meeting.

The report of the Temperance Meeting at Music Hall will be found on our first page.

Temperance Lecture.

Geo. W. Bangay, Esq., will deliver a lecture at Music Hall upon Kingston on Sunday afternoon next, to commence at 3 o'clock. Subject, A vindication of the Sabbath and a scripture view of Temperance. Mr. Bangay is known as an eloquent lecturer and poet, and our citizens may be assured of a good thing no matter how late the subject. We will only do ourselves credit by filing the house.

Information Wanted.

Of an inmate of an asylum, escaped from his friends in New York city, July 15th. He is five feet ten inches in height; has dark eyes, and heavy, dark, full beard and eyebrows; is lame on his left side, from paralysis, and slightly drops his left foot. He wore a Panama hat, a black alpaca coat, dark blue waistcoat, and gray-and-black-striped pantaloons. The right boot was much run down at the heel. He carried a brown silk umbrella, marked on the inside, "W. W. Bingham, 194 Broadway." He is a college graduate, and a lawyer by profession. Address W. H. W., to 2757, New York.

Hudson River Names.

Beason J. Loring in his article on Hudson River names says: "Saugerties is a corruption of Tauger Kill, a Dutch word signifying 'The Sawyer's Creek.' Peter Buntin built a saw-mill at the falls of Esopus creek, where he village now stands, and the stream was called Sawyer's creek. Esopus is an Indian word that properly signified 'lowlands,' or 'smooth lands,' which describes the topography of Kingston, in Ulster county, which was formerly called Esopus." Loring isn't the most accurate historian the world ever produced, so we can't vouch for the accuracy of the above.

A Knowing Animal.

Mr. Luke Pine, Newburgh, is the possessor of one of the best educated horses in his part. If not in the United States, and he can perform all the tricks and many more are usually seen performed by trained horses in traveling shows. Circus men, we are informed, have time and again tried to outdo him to part with him. We have several times noticed Mr. Pine down in the thickly traveled streets of the city without any reins upon the horse. All that is needed is a long whip so that his head can be directed by placing the whip upon either side. The horse is a curious and must be considered a very valuable. A great amount of time and patience must have been spent to educate him. Mr. Pine lives on the South Plank Road just west of deers. Brown's line kiln.—Schenectady Journal.

Persons.

Miss Carrie B. Row is the Overlook correspondent of the Poughkeepsie Eagle, and he writes very entertaining letters, being a pretty, bright little person.

Among other pleasing incidents connected with the visit of the President to our city, was a call made with Gen. Sharpe upon a lady who represents by marriage and in her own person one of the oldest families in the county. It was not in the state. The lady we refer to is Mrs. Sickles, of upper Kingston, a daughter of Francis Gardiner, who was a member of Congress before Gen. Grant was born, and who was a distinguished member of the bar of his state. Mrs. Sickles lost a son at Gettysburg.

THE GREAT COUNSEL FEES CASE.

SCHOONMAKER & COOPER AGAINST THE COUNTY.

New Developments—The Papers Disclosing the Bounties Frauds Snatched From the Fire Killed by Deceit. Them by the Board of Supervisors. The Freeman Admitted to be the Organ of the Honesty of the County—Case Adjudged and Only One Witness Fully Examined.

CONTINUED.

THURSDAY, July 31.

The case of Schoonmaker and Cooper was continued to-day until noon. Mr. Schoonmaker's examination was not finished when the Court adjourned at 12 o'clock.

The mandamus cases of Poland and Roosa were argued at the same term, and the same questions were involved. The question involved was whether the Board of Supervisors had passed upon an account and audited a less amount. There was also a question of fact involved. I have my diary here of 72 and 73. During those years I carried on my other business as counsel and attorney; I did not try many references that year, did try some; not so many as I did the year before; during those years had three circuits in the county; did not postpone any of my cases on account of this business; I tried very few cases that year; did not fail to prepare or try cases on account of this business; this business did not keep me from disposing of all my other business; I had to work the harder for it; I think the January circuit, 73, lasted over two weeks; I was at Albany in January; don't know that I attended General Term or any other court; I don't distinctly remember that I attended the Commission of Appeals in January; I am inclined to think I did not attend the Court of Appeals; I attended the Sullivan Circuit that month; was gone three or four days; I did attend the Delaware Circuit; was only gone a couple of days; in December, 72, there was a County Court; I don't recollect as I had any business at that court; I attended the General Term in November at Albany; I prepared cases, but did not argue any cases that I know of; I prepared my cases in 72 and 73 in the ordinary manner. I decline to give what queries I have in my diary in November and December, commencing after the 15th of November, I have entries of my business as on following days—

On 27th of November, 3rd of December, 9th of December, Delaware Circuit, 17th of December, 23rd December, 29th December and 31st December, 14th January, 73, 23rd January, and the 9th of January also. During January until the middle of February I have entries as follows: One on 11th of February. I was paid for commencing and prosecuting Longyear's case. Don't know how much I got; I claim anything for costs in that suit. Investigated as to the title of property covered by $27,000 mortgage sufficient to find the transfer of the road to Cuykendall. Didn't search to see whether an assignment had been made by Broadhead to convey the title to Brill. Didn't search to see if Broadhead had commenced proceedings to foreclose such mortgage in his own name by filing his pendens and complaint to the effect the property was his own. I did not introduce the pendens and complaint on the Broadhead trial to show Broadhead claimed to own the property individually. I am not sure I knew a suit had been commenced; if I did know it I must have come to the conclusion it was not material; I did make inquiries in relation to the consideration of the mortgage.

Question—Did you make inquiries in relation to whether Mr. Broadhead had the title to the mortgage individually.

Answer—I sent Mr. Cooper down to inquire of Mr. Cuykendall about the matter in question. I think I inquired of the railroad company in reference to the mortgage; Mr. Longyear was there at the time; he was secretary of the company, and I inquired of him. He was counsel for one of the defendants; for defendant Longyear; if I have confidence in the integrity of a man, I have confidence in him even though he may be counsel for one of the defendants; don't think he would be about the matter; I don't know that he was an officer at the time of the transfer; think he knew about the transfer; I think Mr. Broadhead was President at the time of the transfer; don't know that I made any inquiries of him; don't recollect I made any inquiry of any other director except Lonsbury; I was furnished with a copy of the resolutions at the time I think by Broadhead; I did not go to Broadhead himself to ascertain the facts in the case; I think there was a newspaper correspondence before this transfer; don't recollect the letter of Benson being published in regard to Broadhead owning the mortgage; I generally pay very little attention to those controversies; sometimes read them, sometimes did not.

Re-Direct—I stated I did not pay over to the Treasurer's office a single dollar; we procured the transfer of those notes, the $27,000 bond and mortgage, the Longyear note, the two McKinstry notes, and a two hundred dollar note. I was first consulted by the railroad in reference to bringing an action to recover on the bond; was before passage of the resolution; I advised not to proceed; the bond, I did not know of other defenses he put in at the time; there were other items of the claims I did not know of. At the time of the Citizens examination there were no detached coupons on hand. (The report of the Citizens Committee was here put in evidence). There was nothing came in my hands in regard to the indebtedness of Tullith. The coupons of the Railroad Company mentioned in the report of the referee were not paid; they were lost or mislaid the reason they were not paid; for the Hermance note, took a draft; on this there had been two payments; made therein as I before testified. These payments were made by Mr. Hoos. I made communication or report to Board when they would become due and be paid; that they would become due on the 1st day of March; the Board paid no attention whatever as to receiving the money. It is understood Litchfield is the general manager of affairs of the company. He has his office at the same place as the Hermance note. The treasurer and secretary of the company have their office there; it is understood to be the general office of the company. There has been a change in the name of the company. The time table, &c., states Litchfield is the general agent of the company. The matters that have been spoken of as Brill's securities, the personal securities, I have seen no transfer made; have not seen the securities; they have been the only personal securities I have recollect except some money received from Mr. Cooper. I understand McKinstry's degree of responsibility to be doubtful; he was largely mixed up in the Walkill Valley Railroad Company, and it was uncertain how he would come out. As to Mr. Tullith I considered the fact of his property was in the hands of his wife, and outside of that he was not worth much. Tullith was never estimated to be worth above $25,000. McKinstry in his best day not over $50,000. S. Westbrook at that time only $4,000 or $5,000. Ann A. Deyo nothing. Mr. Watson insolvent. Isaac W. Longyear, I did not consider worth very much. In my judgment if I had brought an action on the note I could not have recovered the arrears of interest. In my judgment I would have had to brought another action; this was the reason I brought the action in the way I did. If I had added in the same suit for moneys had and received it would not have been any simpler suit than the one I commenced. At the close of the book evidence before Scott I did not find the book evidence because I found upon examination it would have no effect on the case. (The list of Supervisors of 1867 was here put in evidence, also list of Board of 70, 71, and 72). There were peculiar marks on the bounty pa-

THE OVERLOOK.

The President's visit to our noted mountain resort must be of great service to it by reason of the publicity always given the movements of a Chief Magistrate. The Times and Tribune were represented on the occasion. Had more reporters been along with the President party it is doubtful if the telegraphic facilities at hand in the hotel would have been sufficient for the uses required. Slow, uncertain letters at such times won't do for entering daily journals in this age of electricity, steam and snap. Whatever is the season's report at the Overlook, its permanent establishment in the course of a couple of years is beyond doubt. All new enterprises of its kind must wait awhile to get generally known. The New York Times correspondent before referred to—a gentleman conversant personally with most parts of the Union—remarked in the hearing of our reporter that he regarded the prospect from the Overlook as superior to any view he had ever seen in this country, save from one peak of the Rocky Mountains—that bore a resemblance—and possibly a summit near San Francisco.

An Outrage.

On Thursday forenoon three men named William Legg, Frank McGee and John Shand went into Charles Dohly's saloon on Garden street, and asked for a drink. Mr. Dohly went behind the bar and gave two of the men lager beer, and handed the whiskey decanter to the other. While pouring the whiskey, the disciple of Bacchus distributed the corn-juice over the counter, whereupon Mrs. Dohly remonstrated with him, when he insulted her in the most gross manner, and when she ordered him and his crew from the house, that young chap Legg—William is his first name—commenced an assault on Mrs. Dohly, striking her in the face and breaking her nose. While Mrs. Dohly, who is a plucky little woman and not to be whipped by "one crack in the snout," was struggling with this brute of a chap, she saw Doctor Douglas and Officer Hiram Myer coming up street. Calling on Officer Myer to arrest the three men, that person proceeded to do his duty, when this chap Legg escaped from him, and making a break for the dock, he leaped overboard; but the officer didn't leave him there, for going on the guard of the steamer he called out to the prisoner to surrender, which he was about to do when Frank McGee stepped up to the officer and said, "Anybody who arrests Willie Legg I'll shoot." The officer, not being intimidated, remarked, "Well I'll arrest Legg and you," whereupon McGee endeavored to draw a revolver, but the officer made such a lively and well merited demonstration on the pugnacious countenance of the warlike McGee that a surgeon had to visit him in the lock-up to dress his wounds—probably the only honorable ones he ever received. We don't mean in an honorable cause, but given by an honorable weapon. During the afternoon Officer Myer escorted his two prisoners to the jail in Kingston, where they were locked up preparatory to their appearance before the Recorder this morning. We don't give this as advice, but we would act on it ourselves: If a chap hits you, or more particularly your wife, over the nose and breaks that nose, hit him on the nose, and hit him hard enough to break his neck, if he's the worst friend, except your wife, you've got in the world. That chap Legg is an ugly fellow, and he's nasty; if he'd pick up the right kind of a man,—one of those chaps who'd put the fear of God in man as well as the fear of God in him,—Legg would be the gainer. We trust the Recorder will give this riotous crowd their deserts.—State Prison at hard labor for life.

The Trot at Kingston Driving Park.

On Thursday afternoon we drove to the Kingston track to see the races. The day was very warm, and the sun came down with a fierceness in the afternoon that kept one in a state of perspiration continually. There was present quite an array of spectators, and many fine rigs, among which we noted a large white-legged mare owned by Sweeney and driven to a sulky; A. J. Mellon's mare Nellie; Keller with a bay team and barouche; Hardee of Rifton with a fine grey mare; Friend Hoar with an iron grey and handsome road wagon; Thomas Maston with a sorrel gelding; Jack Curtis with a cream mare and mountain road wagon; Mrs. M. D. Perrine with grey gelding and handsome phaeton; David Halliham with a fine sorrel mare, Annie; Edgar Paine with the handsome dappled stallion Don Quixote; The Johnson with bay gelding, and a number of others.

The first race was for a purse of $25, for all trotting horses making the nearest time to 3:15, mile heats, best 2 in 5 in harness. There were six entries for this purse, and the race was very amusing. The entries were A. J. Mellon, bay mare Nellie; Chip Tanamony, black gelding Jo; Bowser; Fred, Craig, bay mare; Wm. Ackerman, spotted gelding Spot; Hugh Lundy, sorrel gelding Goshen; Wm. Kelly, brown gelding Kelly.

In this race the horses were well matched, and trotted very close to the time, sometimes three and four of them crossing the score within a second of the 3:15. Mellon's mare, and Craig's horse could both trot better than 3:15, and the drivers of those horses had to be very careful not to drive too fast, as well as not to drive too slow, while the other horses could be urged to the top of their speed without being in danger of driving ahead of time. Craig's horse won the first heat in 3:16, Mellon's the 2d heat in 3:15, Lundy's horse of Goshen, the third heat in 3:16, while the spotted horse of Ackerman won the 4th heat in 3:16, giving each of four horses a heat.

The remaining horses were then drawn, and the last heat was trotted by the four above named, and won by Craig's mare in 3:16. The second race was for a purse of $200, to be trotted for by Willywick the black gelding owned by John J. Hornbeck, and a bay mare, Lady Emma, owned by A. Norris of Esopus. In this race Willywick, who was in fine condition, and is well known in this city, won easily in three straight heats, never being headed during the race, in 2:50, 2:45, and 2:47.

The track was in excellent condition, good order and good feeling prevailed, for Mr. Perrine, the manager of the course, had nothing undone to make the afternoon's entertainment an agreeable one to his patrons. Everything passed off well, and the spectators went home well pleased.

CITY NOTES.

A usual state of serenity again pervading the city. After a storm, a calm!

Sam says he's married. We don't believe it.

Edmondson, the Garden street confectioner, supplied Grant with cigars for his Mary Powell trip.

It was Miss Mary, daughter of Jansen Hadenbeck, who received one of the President's kids.

The Church of the Holy Spirit is about to purchase new library books for its Sunday School.

Tuesday morning the Mary Powell made the run from here to Poughkeepsie in thirty-six minutes!

Yesterday 61 canal boats laden with 7,500 tons of coal reached tide water at Edenville through the Delaware & Hudson canal.

The Second Reformed Church excursion to Iona Island takes place to-day from Rome & Tremper's dock.

At the base-ball match at Mt. Marlborough the Co-Workers in four innings made four runs, the Pioneers in three innings made three runs.

Many omens of personal mention at the time of the President's visit can be readily explained by the general efforts of our citizens to make his sojourn one of agreeable memory. We couldn't well publish a directory of names.

However conflicting the political notions of our voters they displayed their good taste and sense of courtesy by ostracizing such outside subjects the past couple of days—a matter much appreciated by Grant.

The demand for The Freeman this week has been extraordinarily large. On Tuesday 150 extra copies were sold, Wednesday 250, and Thursday 225, and each day the demand was unsatisfied.

The very full and accurate reports of the Schoonmaker and Cooper reference case published in The Freeman were furnished to this paper by S. C. Rogers, one of the best court reporters in the State.

Nothing is better for colic than boiled lobster—we know, for we've been there. It will bring on a case when cucumbers have failed. For a sudden case, crumble the lobster in milk. Eaten at the proper time and in proper quantities lobster stands second to no belly-ache timber knuck.

Should, as most likely, some of the throng whom Grant took by the hand at his Wednesday night's reception, have deemed his white-kid hands at all on the order snubish, such should remember one thing and that is: it keeps a hand from an unmerciful amount of squeezing.

The annual picnic for St. Mary's Church will be held in O'Reilly's Grove on Friday, the 13th inst. The usual fun and enjoyment will be augmented this time by such feats as a wheelbarrow race, sack race, foot race and other games that will be quite exciting. The usual good music and refreshments will be there.

Considering that The Freeman has been a little short-handed the past week it has managed to keep up with the procession tolerably well. Its reports of the big counsel-fees case have been full and prompt, and Gen. Grant's movements equally fully reported. On Tuesday night there were five columns, on Wednesday four, and on Thursday three, and on Friday two, and on Saturday one, and on Sunday none, and on Monday one, and on Tuesday two, and on Wednesday Bathing at Long Branch.

(Correspondence of the New York Graphic.)
Woman can invest even a red flannel bathing dress with some degree of picturesqueness, but man is totally and unconsciously hideous from the moment he emerges, sheepish and awkward, from the bathing house door until he re-crosses its threshold, and encased in, and with seaweed sticking out from his congested toes. The west-enders embrace Father Neptune with most refreshing decorum. They wear oil-silk caps, surmounted with the usual straw moustaches, and stockings. Yes, stockings; and they are much, much more than feet-notwithstanding the "almond pink nails" of which Private Miles hath sung-so well, as false teeth are to real ones! Seriously, though, imagine a rene d ballet without her silk stockings. The west-end belle, then, come down to bathe in blue and white dresses, coquettishly made and fitting to perfection, of a decorous length, and beneath, a bewitching pair of striped stockings. They possessed the artistic perception necessary to enable them to dispense with (horror!) a pair of sandals, and came stepping on the sands looking like nymphs of Diana, buskined for the chase. It was, doubtless, very rare in the waves to build such trim little models of beauty and decorum, and knock off their sun hats and beat their hair across their eyes and fill their ears with bits of floating straw; but they did it, and seemed to like it, too.

But, for a genuine Neptunian frolic, the French and German denizens of launch's bear off the palm. This temple of souffles and ice-cream, that which no hotel on Ocean avenue can furnish a more enticing luncheon, turns out every day scores of dark-eyed, olive-skinned demurettes for a bath rally with the waves. These Gallic wags, who are so pretty in their short-skirted waists and zany caps, ending at the knee with a coquettish ruffle, and whose indescribable little caps which are at once so verily French that one wonders why Yankee ingenuity has never invented some way in which a woman may look as enchanting in the salt water as she does in a ball room or an opera box. The Flora McFlinseys, who sit under umbrellas on the sands, their hands encased in frills, undressed kids, and heads swathed in two yards or more of greenish veil, gaze with feeble astonishment at the twinkling heels of these jolly French girls disappearing behind some huge breaker. The influences of nature and health and beauty are so lost on them that one wonders why they didn't stay in Madison square, hoist an umbrella in the bath-room, turn on the water in the tub, and gaze across its milky expanse in lieu of the dancing blue Atlantic.

After all, the children have a better time at Long Branch than anybody else. They tumble up and down the bluff, play horse cars on the shore, bury their toes in the sand, and catch fiddler crabs. Sometimes the crabs revenge themselves. When Master Dobbsy, nurse, who, with the placid indifference to his welfare that characterizes her kind, has left him to kill time on scientific principles of his own, hears a howl of anguish emanating from the platted bosom of his white puppy, she knows what that howl portends, and rushes to extricate the toe of her precious (c) charge from the grasp of a rapacious crab.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN

BLOOD PURIFIER

JURUBEBA

Is the most powerful cleanser, strengthener and remover of Glandular Obstructions known to Modern Medicine.

It is specially adapted to constitutions

"worn down" and debilitated by the warm weather of Spring and Summer, when the blood is not in active circulation, consequently gathering impurities from sluggishness and imperfect action of the secretory organs, and is manifested by Tumors, Eruptions, Scalpitis, Boils, Pustules, Scrofula, &c., &c.

When weary and languid from overwork, and indigestion, drowsiness and inertia take place of energy and vigor, the system needs a restorative and helps the vital forces to regain their recuperative power.

In the heat of Summer, frequently the Liver and Gallbladder become inactive, producing jaundice, and the Urinary organs are inactive, producing weakness of the stomach and intestines and a predisposition to bilious derangement.

DR. WELLS' EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA

is prepared directly from the SOUTH AMER-ICAN PLANT, and is peculiarly suited to all these difficulties; it will cleanse the VITIALIZED BLOOD, strengthen the LIFE-GIVING POWERS, and purify the BLOOD, and is especially adapted to all cases of BILIOUSNESS, and is the most effective and safe remedy known to the Medical Profession. It should be taken, as Jurubeba is pronounced by medical writers the most efficient

PURIFIER, TONIC and DIBILIMENT known in the whole range of medicinal plants.

But, for a genuine Neptunian frolic, the French and German denizens of lauch's beach of the palm. This temple of softness and cream, that which no hotel on Ocean avenue can furnish a more enticing luncheon, turns out every day scores of dark-eyed, olive-skinned demurettes for a bath royal with the waves. These Gallic water-nymphs are so pretty in their short-sleeved waists and zovane pants, ending at the knee with a coquettish ruffle, and those indescribable little caps which are as precious to the French as the champagne, who Yankee ingenuity has never invented some way in which a woman may look so enchanting in the salt water as she does in a ball room or an opera box. The Flora McFlimsneys, who sit under umbrellas on the sands, their hands encased in thick, undressed kids, and heads swathed in two yards or more of grenadine veil, gaze with feeble astonishment at the twinkling heads of these jolly French girls disappearing behind some huge breaker. The influences of nature and health and beauty are so lost on them that one wonders why they didn't stay in Madison square, hoist an umbrella in the bath-room, turn on the water in the tub, and gaze across its noble expanse in lieu of the dancing blue Atlantic.

After all, the children have a better time at Long Branch than anybody else. They tumble up and down the bluff, play out from the shore, bury their toes in the sand, and catch fiddler crabs. Sometimes the crabs revenge themselves. When Master Dobby's nurse, who, with the placid indifference to his welfare that characterizes her kind, has left him to kill time on scientific principles of his own, hears a howl of anguish emanating from the platted bosom of his wet little pique, she knows that that howl portends, and rushes to extricate the too of her precious (c) charge from the grasp of a rapacious crab.
